

Fred R. Zimmerman, Veteran Wisconsin Politician, Dies At 74

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, a top name in Wisconsin politics for nearly two decades, died early today in St. Luke's Hospital after a long illness. He was 74.

The veteran politician, who served one term as governor in 1927-28, was re-elected last month to his ninth successive term as secretary of state although confined to his hospital bed since August. Despite his inability to campaign, he led the Republican ticket at the polls.

Rejected By Party

Zimmerman, actually completing his 10th term in office as a result of serving originally from 1923 to 1926, split with the GOP party organization in the state two years ago. The fiery gray-haired campaigner refused to sit on the same platform with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy at a political rally and was outspoken in his criticism of the state's junior senator.

The 1952 Republican convention refused to endorse him, but he campaigned independently and swept back into office. Last summer the party again declined support, but Zimmerman won the nomination in the Republican primary and

News Reporters Paid Tributes By Eisenhower

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower paid tribute to the American newspaperman Monday night, calling him a "valiant warrior for the truth that makes men free."

"In the unending struggle to maintain our freedom, the American reporter is ever on the front line," Eisenhower said. "For as long as faith and knowledge endure, freedom is certain to survive."

New Center Dedicated

The President appeared on film during a 90-minute television program, climaxing day-long dedication ceremonies of a new memorial press center of the Overseas Press Club. The center honors newspapermen who died abroad in line of duty.

"Through many years, I have had good reason to count the press corps as a vital arm of the forces of freedom," the President said. "In war, I saw its members strive tirelessly, endure hardship, dare battlefield peril that our people might be fully and quickly informed; on every front, they were worthy comrades of our fighting men."

"Now, as president, I find that each day emphasizes anew the fairness, the discernment, the dedication of the American reporter. In peace, he is still a valiant warrior for the truth that makes men free."

Police Push Search For Barefoot Killer Near Brinkley, Ark.

BRINKLEY, Ark. (AP)—The slayer of Mrs. Sue Fuller, young mother of two children, may have been someone familiar with the habits of her husband.

Police Chief Frank Henderson said today he is working on a theory that the man who killed the prominent 25-year-old brunette may have known that her husband would be away from home during the predawn hours Sunday.

Mrs. Fuller was beaten to death with a stick of stove wood at her home early Sunday morning.

Goes To Coffee Shop

Henderson said her husband Milton, 31, long had made a custom of arising early and driving to a downtown hotel coffee shop for coffee and the morning newspapers.

Fuller, an auto dealer, told police he made his usual trip to the coffee shop about 4:30 a.m. Sunday. He said he returned home after driving by his place of business and then stopping by the police station for a chat with officers on night duty.

After reading the newspapers, he said he fell asleep on a couch in the living room. He said he was awakened by a noise in his wife's bedroom and ran in to find her dying on the floor.

Meanwhile, officers pushed their search for a former convict, now free on parole from a federal penitentiary, who has served time in Illinois for the murder of a woman.

Shoe Found In Alley

When police went to the man's home in nearby Devalls Bluff Monday afternoon, he had disappeared.

Tax Cuts Due April 1 May Be Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today he will oppose any Eisenhower administration program of dollar economic aid for Asia "or anywhere else."

Russell voiced this opposition in an interview in advance of a White House briefing by President Eisenhower for Democratic and Republican congressional leaders on foreign and defense policies.

Administration officials have been suggesting increased economic aid for Asia, similar in some respects to the Marshall Plan assistance to Europe.

No Dollar Pumping

Speaking as the prospective chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and carrying the unofficial proxy of Sen. George (D-Ga.), who expects to become chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Russell said that as far as he is concerned he is "through with purely economic aid." George was absent from the conference because his wife is ill.

"I don't propose to vote for economic aid anywhere," Russell said. "I would support some substantial increases in the technical assistance program which I feel is particularly fitted to the problems of the Asian economy."

"But any effort to push up Asia's standard of living purely by pumping American dollars into the economy of those countries is simply beyond the capacity of this country to attempt."

Higher Postal Rates

The White House briefing on next year's legislative program started Monday. That session, limited to administration officials and GOP congressional leaders, brought forecasts of two administration requests aimed at strengthening the government's financial position:

1. A GOP congressional leader, who asked not to be named, said the President and his lieutenants made it clear they will ask for a postponement of corporation and excise tax cuts now scheduled to go into effect April 1.

Unless Congress acts, the corporation income tax would drop from 52 to 47 per cent, costing the Treasury an estimated two billion dollars of revenue annually. Excise taxes on such things as gasoline, automobiles, trucks, cigarettes, liquor, wine and beer also

Housing Scandal Charges Toned Down In Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charges that irregularities in government housing programs constituted the "worst" scandal in United States history and yielded builders a billion dollars in "windfall" profits reportedly have been stripped from a Senate Banking Committee report now awaiting publication.

Sources close to the committee said this was done after banking group Democrats balked at signing the report as originally written.

Democrats have been given until Wednesday to offer additional proposals for altering the report, which now is scheduled for public distribution next Monday.

As originally written, the report on the committee's eight-month investigation of certain Federal Housing Administration operations reportedly opened with a flat charge that "windfall" profits reaped by builders in a post-war apartment program totaled one billion dollars.

The opening paragraph also was said to have claimed no previous scandal, including that of the Teapot Dome in the Harding administration and the Reconstruction Finance Corp. scandals during the Truman administration approached the housing irregularities in scope.

The alleged irregularities involved both the apartment construction program and a home improvement program, both of which used federal insurance of private loans.

The home improvement program still is in operation, but the apartment building program ended during the Truman administration.

Louisville Newsman Given 15 Years For Advocating Sedition

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 40-year-old newsman, convicted of advocating sedition was held without bond today while his counsel prepared a motion for a new trial.

A Criminal Court jury returned its verdict against Carl Braden Monday night and fixed his punishment at 15 years' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000.

Braden also was discharged as a copywriter by the Louisville Courier-Journal, where he had been on leave with pay since his indictment.

Classed With Communism

After the trial, Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times, issued this statement:

"... This newspaper has gone on the time-honored principles, rooted in our American Constitution, that a man is innocent until proved guilty. His conviction now puts a permanent end to his connection with the Courier-Journal."

Braden's counsel said the motion for a new trial and another for arrest of judgment would be filed Thursday with Judge L. R. Curtis.

If all appeals fail, and Braden is unable to pay all or part of the $5,000 fine, he must serve it out at the rate of $2 a day. His 15-year term would not begin until the full amount of the fine is satisfied.

In summing up his case, Asst. Commonwealth's Atty. Laurence E. Higgins told the jury it had a simple issue to decide, that "sedition is communism and communism is sedition—there is no distinction."

Member of Red Cell

Defense Atty. Robert Zollinger declared the issue was whether "a man has the right to an opinion different from those in his community."

Braden was charged with advocating sedition together with his wife and four other persons, after a Negro's new home in a white subdivision was dynamited last June. The Bradens had purchased the home and transferred the deed to the Negro, Andrew Wade IV.

One of the highlights of the two-week trial came with the last-minute appearance of Mrs. Alberta Ahearn, a 44-year-old Louisville seamstress who said she had been working for the FBI as a plant in the Communist cell of which the Bradens were members.

She said she was invited into the Communist party by Braden, paid her dues and contributions to him, and attended meetings in his home.

Braden has testified that he was

Extra Controls On Farm Crops All Discarded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has relieved farmers of all controls next year except those imposed by Congress and voted by farmers themselves.

Benson announced at a news conference Monday that a measure he set up last summer to control use of "surplus" acres in 1955 is being tossed into the discard.

Under this measure, a farmer would have been required to comply with all acreage planting allotments assigned his farm to be eligible for price support aid on any crop. Allotments will be made for cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, major types of tobacco and rice.

This control was designed, for example, to prevent farmers from using land diverted from wheat to production of corn in excess of their corn allotments. But now a farmer may plant as much corn as he likes and still be eligible for wheat supports.

Soil Subsidies Retained

Another control measure Benson dropped would have prevented diversion of "surplus" land from allotment crops to potatoes and commercial vegetables.

The only controls remaining for 1955 include: Marketing quotas, which farmers themselves must approve, for cotton, wheat, tobacco, and peanuts, and acreage allotments.

Speech By Sandburg

A cast of entertainers, who appeared on the television show, "The Dateline," included Bob Hope, Sid Caesar, Martha Raye and John Daly.

White-haired poet Carl Sandburg delivered the dedication, in which he said:

"In all weathers and on all continents and seas, the overseas correspondents sought the controlling factors, scented and hunted the dark unknown."

"From winding and tortuous paths where the known faded into fogs of the unknown they did their best at sending home to press and radio the story of what was happening from day to day."

During the ceremonies, former presidents of the organization unveiled four plaques with names of 82 newsmen who have died abroad while searching for news.

Two-Gun Detroit Too Tough As Chief For Pt. Clinton, Ohio

DETROIT (AP)—Retired Detroit Police Sgt. George Lemaster is back home today after a two-month stint as police chief of Port Clinton, Ohio.

"Two-Gun" George, as he was widely known while on the Detroit force, packs a .45 on each hip and he was just too much for the folks in the sleepy summer resort town of 6,000.

"A one-man tornado" is the way his successor, Acting Police Chief Boyd Austin described Lemaster.

Lemaster was dismissed a few days ago about two months after he got the post through a chance conversation with the mayor of the town.

The formal action was taken when Lemaster failed to show up at a public meeting called to give the harassed citizenry a chance to air their complaints against the pistol-packing sergeant.

What did "Two-Gun" do to deserve this? Well, said Austin, for one thing, he looked up people for congregating on street corners.

"Farmers have been standing on street corners in Port Clinton for 100 years," Austin said. "That's all there is to do here."

Not so, said Lemaster.

"The only people I ever chased off the corners were two bums I recognized as being from Skid Row in Detroit. I ran them out of town."

Austin said Lemaster also kicked the townspeople by raiding the local poolhall and firing a 19-year-old veteran on the eight-man force "for not carrying a service revolver 24 hours a day."

But the burghers screamed for "Two-Gun's" scalp, Austin said, when he ran his police car into the rear of another vehicle stopped for a red light and then gave the occupant of the other car a ticket for failing to stop before entering the street from an alley.

Lemaster, however, said the man was guilty of the violation and that

Reds May Seek Swap To Free 11 U. S. Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ruled out any deal with Red China to swap 35 Chinese students in America for the 11 U. S. airmen imprisoned inside China.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White told newsmen: "There will be no deal."

White's comments came in reply to questions about a Peiping radio broadcast which carried a broad hint that Red China was trying to coax the United States into a deal.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Diplomats speculated today that Peiping's renewed protests over United States detention of 35 Chinese students might be a hint that Red China wants to use them as a base for bargaining on the release of 11 American airmen it holds on spy charges.

Peiping radio said Monday night the United States would be flouting international law if it held the 35 in retaliation for the jailing of the airmen.

Linking of the two cases in the same broadcast led many U.N. delegates to wonder if Peiping was putting out feelers to see whether the United States would be willing to make some sort of a trade.

Some 4,500 Chinese students were in the United States when the Chinese Reds entered the Korean War. Of those who wanted to go home, the State Department has not let leave the country because they had acquired skills in the United States that might be used to the Communists.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hjalmar Schjold was reported still to be bid to go to Peiping to plead for the fliers.

Disabled Fireman Given $20,000 Home By Harrisburg, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Bob Wolfe woke up in his new home here today—a home that already is filled with at least 50,000 memories.

The 32-year-old former Marine was permanently disabled while fighting a fire here 16 months ago. A spinal injury, suffered when a wall collapsed, paralyzed him from the waist down.

Members of the Riverside fire company, of which he was a member, began a door-to-door fund drive and had the house built for Bob at an estimated cost of $20,000.

"When I was lying in the hospital for 11 months after the accident, things looked pretty dim," he recalled.

"Then, out of a clear blue sky, I get this beautiful home given to me and about all I can do is get all choked up and start to sniffle."

The new home, a sprawling, ranch-type building, is completely equipped with the latest appliances and fixtures. Wolfe, his wife and their daughters, 4 and 5, had lived

In view of all the statements made, this committee is going on record to reemphasize its position that its entire objective is to get the facts on the power problem from all sources of information to present to our City Council as soon as possible."

Daughters of Isabella of Trinity Circle 362 held their annual Christmas dinner party and benefit for the orphans last evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The program which followed the attractively appointed dinner included pantomimes, "An Angel in a Christmas Play" and "I Want a Hippopotamus for Christmas" by Carol Valind, vocal solos, "O Holy Night" and "Angels We Have Heard on High" by Miss Jean LaBranche, accompanied by Miss Valind, and vocal solos, "A Christmas Lullaby" and "White Christmas" by Mrs. John Cass, accompanied by Mrs. Clinton Groos.

At the business meeting it was decided to send a gift to the Carmelite Nuns at Iron Mountain.

A surprise feature of the evening was the arrival of Santa Claus (Mrs. Ben Shandonay) on roller skates.

Home At Cornell Is Destroyed By Fire

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Oscar Cooper home at Cornell on Saturday evening. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Mr. Cooper, a widower, was at work at the Escanaba Paper Company mill when the fire was discovered by neighbors about 8 p. m. The four-room house was located one mile south and four miles west of Cornell.

By the time the fire was discovered it had gained such headway that it could not be halted.

Oral Deaf Work Demonstrated At Kiwanis Meeting

Classroom equipment was set up at the Escanaba Kiwanis Club meeting Monday in an actual demonstration of the work of the oral-deaf department of the Escanaba Public Schools, one of the major projects annually receiving the support of the local Kiwanians.

In a program arranged by Dr. H. L. Beers of the Kiwanis Club with the cooperation of school authorities, six deaf pupils, four boys and two girls, went through classroom speech exercises with their instructor, Miss Mary Edith De Bolt. The pupils used amplifier head-sets with hearing aid equipment purchased a few years ago through the financing assistance of the Kiwanis Club.

Miss DeBolt, who has a class of seven ranging in ages from 8 to 19 years, pointed out that in this class she has four progress groups, each requiring a different type of instructor. All those in the class have been deaf all their lives, but all receive some help from the school amplification equipment in varying degrees. Reading work is at first and second grade level, with the exception of the five-year-old pupil, who was not present for the demonstration Monday.

At the start of the program Monday, the Kiwanis Club presented a check for $500 to C. Gust Peterson, president of the board of education, for purchase of additional equipment for the school oral-deaf department. The contribution will be earmarked for buying a portable hearing aid unit for the class, also a picture slide projector and screen.

Supt. of Schools John A. Lammer was a guest at the meeting Monday.

Safe Driving Day Begins At Midnight! Watch Your Speed!

WEDNESDAY is Safe Driving Day (S-D Day) throughout the United States. It is the objective of the national campaign to attain a record of 24 hours without an automobile accident.

This is the most ambitious traffic campaign ever conducted on a national scale. Law enforcement agencies, safety organizations, automobile clubs, insurance companies, trucking firms and many, many other organizations are active in support of this drive.

But it cannot succeed without your help. You as a motorist in concert with millions of other motorists throughout the United States must make a sincere, conscientious effort to drive safely tomorrow to achieve the desired result in this campaign.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

There are times when those little marks known as the apostrophe, comma and quotation mark seem to be in the hands of gremlins operating with a fine, free disregard for the general rules of grammar.

For example, a retired school teacher recently put to me the question whether an apostrophe is necessary in the title "The Roanoke Teachers' Club." Should it not be "The Roanoke Teachers' Club," she inquired, since "Teachers" is used in the possessive form.

By all ordinary rules of grammar, an apostrophe should be placed after the "s." However, leading authorities on printing style say it depends on whether the club has already been named or whether the decision is still pending as to how it is to be named. For, once officially chosen, the name—whether with or without the apostrophe—becomes correct, because it is now "authentic" (as the Government Printing Office Style Manual puts it) or "official" (as the Associated Press Style Book calls it).

So the puzzled writer, at a loss to know whether or not to include the apostrophe, can only look to a telephone book—not a notably accurate source of information because of its many abbreviations—or some other directory for the answer as to whether the founders of a firm or club did or did not want an apostrophe in its name.

This is not the end of our involvements because the GPO Style Manual goes still further and notes that in certain instances the organization title may be regarded as "more descriptive than possessive" and cites Actors Equity Association as an example. By this standard, Roanoke Teachers Association would have been the better formulation.

And just to show how this thing can get completely out of hand—"curiouser and curiouser," as Alice said—there is the specific notation that there is an exception to this exception. You must write Veterans' Administration, says the manual, "in conformity with the enabling statute." In other words, when the bill was drawn setting up the Veterans' Administration, those persons writing the bill failed to consult the government's own style manual. Someone in government goofed!

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

The late Joe Palmer had a prize story about a horse owner in Wyoming who showed up at a race meeting with an 8-year-old non-starter and put him in an important race. Since an aging maiden is hardly a betting attraction, he was off at $136.50 and galloped home first by a cool ten lengths. The stewards suspected dirty work at the crossroads, and demanded of the owner, "Is this horse unsound?" "N, sir," asserted the owner. "Soundest horse you ever saw. Ankles like iron, never sick a single day."

"Well, then," persisted a steward, "why haven't you raced him before?" "To tell the truth," said the owner solemnly, "we couldn't catch him till he was seven."

Paper manate Sam Himmell, asked how he budgeted his income, replied, "40 percent for food, 30 percent for shelter, 30

Actually, of course, the 24-hour period begins at midnight tonight. That means that you must be ready tonight to put into practice the caution that is necessary for safe driving if you are going to do your part in this great effort.

In 1953 there were 38,300 persons killed in traffic accidents in the United States. It is glumly predicted that 850 persons will be killed this year in highway accidents between Christmas and New Year's.

But if every driver cooperates on Wednesday, Dec. 15, it is possible to achieve something that has not been achieved in many, many years—a 24 hour period without a traffic fatality. And if we can do this, we can prove to ourselves and to every other motorist that traffic tragedies can be averted for more than a single day.

This is a dramatic approach to a problem that is one of the most serious confronting the nation today. The problem of traffic accidents with its tremendous toll of lives and maimed bodies must be licked and this can be a good start in that direction.

Drive slowly—and a good part of the battle is already won. Drive carefully—and you can ease your worries about traffic tragedies.

"Real Cost" Is The Big Thing

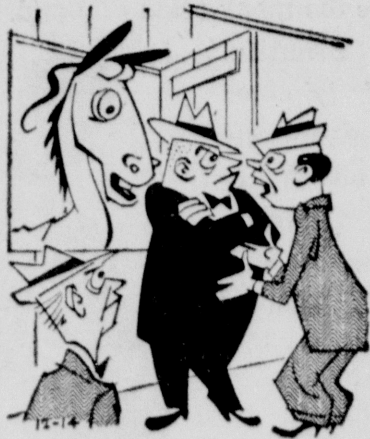

THE number of dollars or pounds or rubles or any other currency a worker earns is not in itself important. What is important is what they will buy. Thus, the price charged for any commodity should be measured by what is known as "real cost"—that is, the amount of time that must be worked to earn enough to buy it.

A recent comparison, based on Bureau of Labor Statistics, on "real costs" in the two metropolises of Moscow and New York City, is striking and important. In Russia, all the means of production and distribution, with a few unimportant exceptions, are state-owned. There is no competition, in any recognized sense of the word, on either the manufacturing or retailing level. In this country, by contrast, factories are free to produce what they think the people want, stores are free to stock it, there is intense competition all along the line, and the consumer has complete freedom of choice.

How do the two diverse systems compare, in actual physical results? In Moscow, the average worker must work 117 minutes to earn the money to buy a pound of choice beef and 168 minutes in the case of a dozen eggs—in New York the figures are 22 minutes and 21 minutes. In Moscow the worker must put in 42 days of time to get enough money for an overcoat and 32 days for a table model radio—in New York the respective figures are 3 days and 13 hours. The difference is similarly great with other foods and products.

You might keep this in mind next time you go shopping—and mentally give free enterprise a little of the credit it deserves.

Friends take so much advantage of the fellow with a heart of gold that he seldom has any of it in his pocket.

percent for clothing, and 20 per cent for amusement and incidentals." "But Sam," protested the inquirer, "that makes one hundred and twenty percent." "You don't have to tell me," sighed Sam. "I know it."

The Doctor Says... Bleaching, Shaving Help Conceal Dark Hair on Lip

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The problem of excessive hairiness is not confined to grown women, Mrs. M., for example, writes that her daughter who is not yet 11 years old has a dark heavy growth of hair on her upper lip and asks whether bleaching would be advisable.

In the vast majority of cases excessive hairiness of this sort on the face or possibly the arms or legs presents more of a psychological or emotional problem than it does a physical one; it is said that only in one case in a hundred is some disorder of the endocrine glands (glands of internal secretion) at fault.

BLEACHING is one method of approaching the problem. Needless to say it does not give a perfect answer. Another method is to rub off the hairs with a cosmetic device which is well known. Shaving is a further possibility. The only safe permanent method is by use of an electric needle known as electrolysis. In an 11-year-old girl, however, it would usually be wise not to pay too much attention to a situation or build up a serious self-consciousness.

ANOTHER PROBLEM which has troubled uncounted numbers of parents is the erection of thumb-sucking. One mother wrote that her five-month old baby sucks his thumb and asks if it would hurt her mind emotionally if she tried to break her of the habit at that age. This is a difficult question to answer since there are two schools of thought in the matter.

Some believe that a definite effort should be made to break the thumb-sucking habit early in order to avoid possible trouble with the teeth. Others feel that this is unimportant. I am inclined to feel personally that too much effort should not be devoted to breaking up the habit at the age of five months. The child at all times should be given love and affection, and as soon as possible, other interests and in all probability the little one will stop her habit before it has done any harm.

A CORRESPONDENT who signs herself "worried mother" wants to know if her son's feet should be operated on because while only 5 years old he walks pigeon-toe. By this I presume the mother means that the youngster turns the toes inward on walking. This is not considered a disease by itself but is often found associated with other conditions of the foot.

It would be wise to have the youngster examined for such foot difficulties but pigeon-toe of itself is likely to be corrected without treatment as the child grows older unless some other deformity is present. Sometimes raising the outer border of the soles of the shoes may improve the

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—How can harmony be achieved in the Republican party by President Eisenhower's leadership?

This is the $64 question in American politics today. It is not less important because the Democratic party faces an equally serious cleavage over the civil rights issue.

The Republican party is torn with a factionalism based on issues which are really not at all insurmountable. This factionalism is intensified by a fundamentally mistaken point of view among some of the President's closest advisers who seem to think the way to political progress is to keep the Republican factions fighting each other.

In many respects President Eisenhower is a political paradox. He has proved himself to be an aggressive partisan inside the Republican party but no partisan at all in fighting the Democratic party.

CARELESS WORDAGE

Many of the supporters of the President use rather loose terms in describing the factions of the Republican party. They refer nowadays to the "right wing" and the "hard core of the right wing." Does this mean that the opposite faction hereafter can be properly described as the "left wing" or the "hard core of the left wing"? Such terms will not enhance the prestige of the Republican party or bring unity to its ranks.

Another example of the careless use of terms occurred in the last two weeks when Senator Knowland of California, majority leader, made a statement urging that a naval blockade might be used to compel the release of the 11 airmen held captive by the Red Chinese. The idea was worth exploring—or at least discussing in a land of free speech. It was advantageous to let the Red Chinese know that members of Congress here were at least thinking of these things.

Without looking up Mr. Knowland's voting record, which has been 87 per cent in favor of the Eisenhower legislative proposals—one of the best in Congress—there was published in a large eastern newspaper an editorial coining the word "Knowlandism." In a few days there were editorials in other newspapers which reworked the quotation marks and characterized the Knowland point of view as an "ism," or as a "right wing" pronouncement. Yet, if anybody deserves the title of "progressive moderate," as Mr. Eisenhower phrases it, Senator Knowland does.

CAUSES DISUNITY

When a few days afterward the California senator lined up against the "censure" resolution, it was promptly asserted by some Eisenhower supporters in the press that "Knowlandism" and "McCarthyism" were the same thing. Conversely, one look at the roll-call for censure will reveal, however, the name of Senator Watkins, whose "isolationist" point of view would hardly entitle him to be classified as a "left winger" or "internationalist" just because he fought the Wisconsin senator.

Such tactics are not going to help Mr. Eisenhower restore harmony in his party and he, of course, isn't responsible for the mistakes being made by his overzealous supporters. For, if Senator Knowland, who represents the second most populous state in the union, is to be deprived of the right to express the viewpoint of his constituents on public questions unless he conforms to a pattern, then indeed an era of intolerance has arrived on the American scene—far more serious than the Wisconsin senator's tactics in handling witnesses in congressional committees.

The late Senator Taft publicly differed on foreign policy with the Eisenhower administration in May, 1953, but nobody called it "Taftism" and there was no demand from the White House coterie that he resign as majority leader. If the White House is to insist on a rubber-stamp Congress and is to choose the majority leader of the Senate, then the system here will tend to acquire the "yes-man" conformity which Hitler introduced and Stalin perfected in handling a national legislature.

LA FOLLETTE LESSON

It is easy enough to proclaim that Senator McCarthy is down and out politically, but history shows that the same thing happened to Senator LaFollette, who was deserted by almost everybody in 1917—particularly by the Republican party. In his own state, and by the legislature of Wisconsin which passed resolution demanding his expulsion from the Senate. But he was re-elected two years later, and five years afterwards he was rolling up 5,000,000 votes on a third party ticket. John W. Davis, Democrat, otherwise would have won. As it was the winner—Calvin Coolidge—obtained the electoral votes but failed to get a majority in each of 11 states west of the Mississippi.

What is important today politically is not the language or manner of tactless behavior of Senator McCarthy, but the two issues he has raised. These are trade with Red China and with Soviet Russia and failure of the administration thus far to secure the release of Americans held prisoner by the Communist Chinese in violation of the Korean armistice. Not much unity or bi-partisan cooperation will be accomplished on the political front if the President or his advisers assume that only McCarthy has been interested in such issues. President Eisenhower, on the other hand, by taking a really effective position on these grave problems, has a chance not only to unite the Republican party but the country as well. The real key to harmony doesn't lie in accepting peace at any price or pacifism as a national policy.

Tailor-Made Drinks Feature New Price War In Hong Kong

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY

HONG KONG—(NEA)—This is the tax-free bargain basement of the world. Every week hundreds of American servicemen in bell-bottoms and Korean battle dress, pockets loaded with long-saved money, let the Indian and Chinese merchants vie with each other in a never ending price reduction war.

In fabulous Hong Kong, you have your choice of 100 tailors who will whip up a suit and a cashmere sport coat for one-fourth Stateside price in the length of time it takes you to down a few beers or highballs—provided free while you wait.

In this city of commerce, an open port where anything goes, there are no restrictions on money and you can swap anything for greenbacks.

This circumvents the U. S. Government's expensive and unwieldy program of issuing Military Payment Certificates to all servicemen in Japan, Korea and Okinawa in order to keep greenbacks from falling into Communist hands. Here in Hong Kong, regular U. S. dollars constantly flow through the largest bank in the area, Bank of China, owned and operated by Chinese Communists.

The daily rate of exchange which changes somewhat from hour to hour, also provides that you can illegally buy military certificates in Hong Kong, getting $1.35 value for US $1. (It is, of course, illegal to have these certificates in possession outside Korea, Japan or Okinawa.) Moreover, you can buy Japanese yen at the rate of ¥420 for US $1, instead of the current rate of ¥360 in Japan.

The old city also boasts of the last vestige of British colonialism. Regimental bands parade down King George Street twice a week, just to keep the natives in line, whether they need it or not—and retired colonels sip pink gin through drooping mustaches.

Hong Kong is a city of political intrigue. Hundreds of freelance and full-time spies will peddle a rumor, a cargo or an intelligence report for the price of a day at the races. But when the races or football are on, everything—even spy work—stops. British rules.

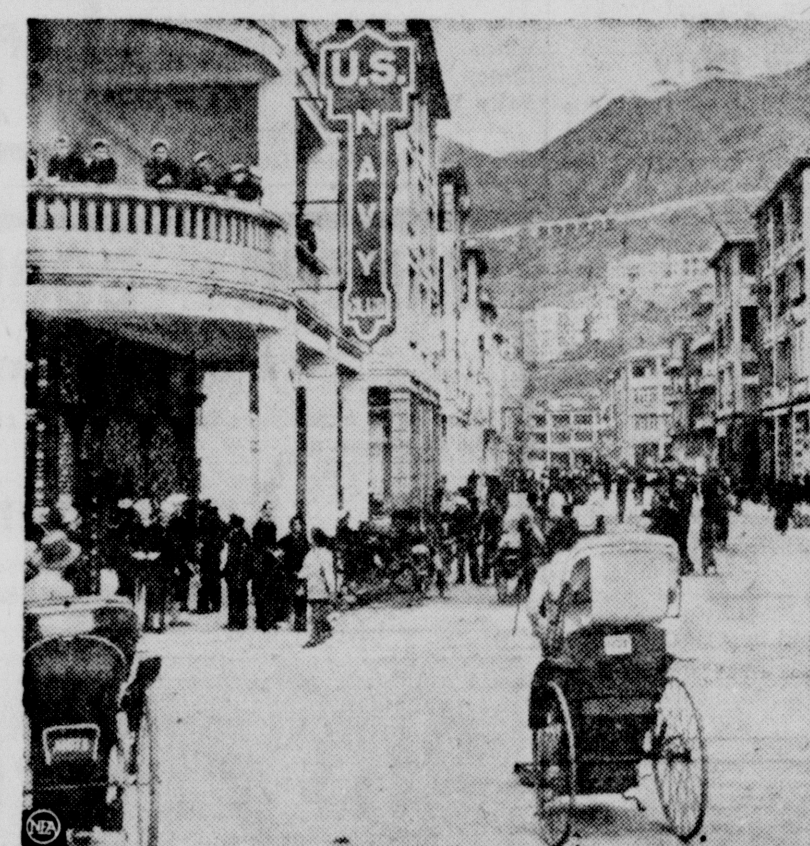

Here East meets West literally, and bamboo really grows at the dividing line, where, with the right papers, you can board a train on this side and be delivered in the same car to north of the border. This is a curious hole in the Iron Curtain which is maintained for the convenience of both the Communists and the British.

After trade, legitimate and illegitimate, with Red China, the second big boon to Hong Kong is the influx of American servicemen. The 7th Fleet uses the city as a recreation port and sailors call it the best liberty port in the world.

Since this part of the Pacific is currently an American lake, there are always several American ships anchored in the channel—the big ones anchor with steam-up, headed for the open sea, just in case.

From Japan, Okinawa and Korea, soldiers pour in by special planes and boats.

Latest gimmick, invented by the Indians to draw American pe-

Pilot's Bloodhounds Set Tracking Record

By ELLIS LUCIA

LOS GATOS, Calif. —(NEA)—Three lop-eared bloodhounds are basking lazily in the sun here, apparently unaware that their astounding tracking talents have established a new national record for following an old trail.

The dogs, whose fame is growing rapidly throughout the West, belong to Norman Wilson, a 29-year-old former Navy pilot and until recently a deputy sheriff. They have participated in nearly half a hundred successful searches, saving many lives.

Not long ago, a family of three, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zeisler, and Mrs. Zeisler's son, Harvey Hoeff, 13, became lost while deer hunting in the western Oregon forests. The family had been in the woods several days before being missed. Over 150 men searched the countryside, starting where the Zeislers car was found. After a week they still could find no trace.

Wilson offered to bring his dogs. The trail was quite cold by then and incessant rains had fallen in the area. However, the dogs and master were flown north.

The hounds picked up the scent almost immediately and within three hours located the body of the boy. Bodies of the man and woman were found the following day. Inexperienced in woodcraft the three had died of panic and exposure.

When the dogs found the scent, the Hoff-Zeisler trail was 341 hours old. Wilson is claiming a new national record with the American Bloodhound club, topping the former record of 105 hours.

Since there aren't many trained bloodhounds anymore, demands are heavy for Wilson's dogs.

Wilson's interest in bloodhounds goes back to 1946 when he was still in the Navy. His buddy crash-landed in the Florida Everglades and in a dazed condition wandered into the swamp. A bloodhound found him alive.

Right then Wilson swore he had to have a dog. Two years later he bought Queen Guinevere of Laurelok, better known as Bernice. She now works with two of her pups, Doc Holiday and Big Nose Kate.

"Once the bloodhound bug hits you, you've had it," Wilson says.

So They Say

If President Eisenhower can conclude a nonaggression pact with Sen. (William) Knowland, and if we can find some means of peaceful coexistence with a large segment of his party, I think he will find us Democrats easy to get along with. —Adlai Stevenson.

I am a Republican. I intend to remain a Republican. And I intend to do my work against the enemies of my country from within in the Republican Party.—Sen. Joseph McCarthy denies he'll head a third party.

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The United Nations resolution demanding freedom for the 11 U. S. airmen sentenced as spies by Communist China provides a new test of usefulness for the world organization.

Sentencing of the 11 U. S. airmen along with two civilian employees of the Department of Defense did not just happen in the normal course of Red Chinese events. It was a deliberately calculated move, according to official analyses. Why the Chinese Communists chose this particular time to bring this matter to a head is puzzling.

One analysis is that the Chinese Reds thought this incident might be used to further divide the United States from its allies.

If this was it, the Chinese Reds may have hoped to involve the United States in some act of aggression through an American reaction of violent indignation.

FOR A DAY OR SO, it looked as though this might be the answer. Republican Senators Knowland of California, Jenner of Indiana and others demanded a complete blockade of Red China.

If the United States had taken such action on its own, it would have alarmed many European governments who fear being catapulted into some new war by a minor, accidental blunder.

The official reaction of President Eisenhower was just the opposite. His entire effort was directed at taking this incident calmly. He did order the strongest kind of protest. He didn't order any blockade, he didn't threaten to drop any atomic bombs and he didn't run the risk of starting a war just to force release of the 11 American airmen.

This restraint apparently made an impression on U. S. allies. The 15 powers that had been associated with the United States in the Korean war against Communist aggression joined in support of a United Nations resolution condemning the treatment of the 11 American fliers captured by Chinese forces when their planes were shot down over North Korea, on a United Nations mission.

THIS DEVELOPMENT MAY BE just the opposite of what the Red Chinese leaders anticipated. Instead of dividing the anti-Communist nations, they have effectively united them.

Instead of furthering Red China's ambition to gain admission to the United Nations by brute force, this sentencing of the American airmen may have built up opposition to any such recognition. In this respect, the U. S. aim of barring Red China's admission to the UN may have been greatly strengthened.

Whether or not the UN resolution—instructing its Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to seek release of the American fliers—will do any good, remains to be seen. The expectation in Washington is that it will help in the long run, even though it does not accomplish its desired result by the end of the year.

CONSTANT DIPLOMATIC PRESSURE and public opinion over longer periods of time have in the past secured the release of such Americans as Angus Ward by Red China, William Oatis by Czechoslovakia, Robert A. Vogeler, Karl Ruedemann and Noel Field by Hungary, Hermann Field by Poland, and others.

Since the Geneva conference ended in July, Red China itself has released 15 Americans, including three children. One other American woman, married to a Chinese citizen, has been released from jail but remains free with her husband in Red China.

The score now is 28 American civilians now held in Chinese jails. This includes the two civilians, John Thomas Downey and Robert George Fecteau, sentenced by the Chinese as spies along with the 11 U. S. airmen. Three other American civilians are held under house arrest. Another 18 or 20 are at liberty in Red China but unable to get exit visas to leave the country.

For official record purposes, the Department of Defense now carries 24 U. S. uniformed personnel as known held captive by the Chinese Reds. Five hundred and two other American fighting men carried as "missing in action" or "prisoners of war, whereabouts unknown" as of a year ago, are now carried as "presumed dead."

Family Enjoys Ocean In Yacht

HONOLULU (AP)—Amazed to hear they had been reported missing on their 48-day sail from Japan, Dr. Earl L. Reynolds and his family are so pleased over the trip that they plan to continue around the world.

The 44-year-old U. S. atomic scientist had never sailed in deep water before he set out from Takamatsu, Japan, Oct. 26 in the 50-foot yacht Phoenix. Aboard were his wife, Barbara, two children, Jessica, 10, and Ted, 16, and three Japanese amateur crewmen.

They arrived here Saturday. Dr. Reynolds, who was an anthropologist with the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima, said they skirted two typhoons, but had good sailing weather most of the time for their two-masted ketch.

The Japanese coast guard had been trying to locate the yacht and there was some fear that it was lost. It had no radio transmitter although it had two receivers to pick up weather information.

The scientist comes from Yellow Springs, Ohio.

South's redouble should have resulted in making East scurry to five clubs, since there was certainly nothing for East to be "proud of," defensively, and this comment is made in full awareness that the fourspade contract could (and should) have been beaten. A player who gives a voluntary raise to his partner usually implies that he has some slight values, at least, outside of the suit he is raising, and since East's action had been based exclusively on clubs, he was obviously not prepared to lend substantial help on defense. As a matter of fact, his length in clubs was all the more reason for taking out the double, since it would not be surprising if that length killed whatever number of clubs West might be counting on defensively.

West led the ace and another club. South ruffed, cashed the ace of trumps, and when he saw the queen fall from West, deferred further trump leading to run the hearts. West, who had no burning desire to be back on lead, declined to ruff in on the third or fourth heart, but South then put West in with the high trump.

Not too hopefully, West now laid down the ace of diamonds and played a second round—maybe his partner had the king. But actually, of course, South could now claim the rest of the tricks.

West's play after being thrown on lead was not very sensible! Why lead the diamond ace? If East had the king, a low diamond lead would be considerably better—and if East lacked the king and queen but did have the ten, the low lead by West would be absolutely vital, building two tricks for West's A-J of diamonds.

Cleveland-Cliffs Mine Safety Unit Receives Praise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fire-fighting and mine rescue facilities for 2,000 underground workers at the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co.'s seven mines in Michigan's Upper Peninsula were described in a Bureau of Mines report.

The report said the Negaunee, Mich., firm has built up the largest trained mine rescue force in the Lake Superior region. More than 200 workers at the company's mines in Marquette and Iron counties receive mine rescue training twice a year.

During recent years trained fire-fighting units have extinguished four mine fires that could have proved disastrous, the report said. For many years the company has maintained a central rescue station, equipped with oxygen breathing apparatus, self-rescuers, gas masks, life-line and reel assemblies, portable gas-analysis apparatus and other basic equipment.

Facilities at each of the company's seven underground mines include at least one underground fire truck, fire extinguishers, gas masks, self-rescuers and water lines at all headframes main drifts and crosscuts.

Michigan Has Its Grandma Moses

DAVISBURG, Mich. (AP)—In a country home that overlooks a pleasant green valley not far from the industrial heartland of the state lives an 84-year-old woman who is often called "The Grandma Moses of Michigan."

Some of her work she sells. But most she gives away.

Thirteen years ago she had a studio in a fashionable Detroit suburb. But so many people came to the studio she had little time to paint.

She is a mother of seven and great-great grandmother to five.

Pope's Condition Remains Serious

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican press spokesman announced that two physicians who examined Pope Pius XII this morning reported his condition "stationary." Earlier a source close to the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church reported he had weakened perceptibly in the past 48 hours and his doctors fear he is threatened by anemia.

The press spokesman's announcement was the first time that the Vatican had not reported continued slow improvement since the pontiff rallied from his serious collapse 12 days ago with a gastric ailment.

Official reports in the past have been inclined to minimize the seriousness of his condition.

The source who reported that the Pope had grown weaker said he had been able to take only small spoonfuls of food by mouth the past two days. He said more nutrition had been given, with difficulty, by tube.

The Pope also was said to have spent a somewhat less restful night.

Burned Fire Victims Climb Through Window In Farm Home Blaze

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Four persons narrowly escaped death Monday night by crawling through the bathroom window of their blazing farm home, then managed to drive to the home of a relative for help even though three of them were critically burned.

Admitted to Mt. Pleasant Community Hospital in critical condition were Jack Scott, 52, who owns a dairy farm near Lake, 30 miles northwest of here; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Keith Scott, 20, and Charles Blair, 78, Scott's wife, Josephine, 53, the fourth victim, was in serious condition.

Lawrence Graber, Scott's son-in-law who drove the four to Mt. Pleasant, said Scott's house burned to the ground in the fire, started by a stove explosion shortly after midnight.

Graber said the victims told him this story on their 80-mile-an-hour dash to the hospital:

Scott was pouring oil on a wood stove in the six-room cinder block home when the stove suddenly exploded. He and his daughter-in-law rushed to the basement for a hose to attach to a water hydrant, but flames had spread through the house by the time they returned.

In an adjoining bedroom was Blair, a roomer, who was crippled by a broken hip he suffered a year ago. By the time Scott had helped him out his crutches, flames had cut off every avenue of escape but the bathroom. All four managed to climb through the small window, but were badly burned before they escaped.

The younger Mrs. Scott took the wheel of the family car and drove with the others to Graber's home, a mile and a half away. There, Graber transferred them to his own car and they began the painful ride to Mt. Pleasant.

A mile from Mt. Pleasant, Graber's car broke down. He hailed a passing truck which pushed them to the outskirts of Mt. Pleasant where a city police car took over and pushed them the rest of the way to the hospital.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued its irregular price pattern today in the early afternoon.

Most major divisions were mixed with a slight tendency to decline in evidence in most sections.

With the exception of wide movers, losses were fractional. Gains went to between one and two points.

Trading was at the slowest pace since the big postelection bull market boom started Monday's total was only 2,705,000 shares.

Atlantic Coast Line Railroad jumped ahead six points. Brokers credited investment demand in a thin market.

The stock is in the railroad component of The Associated Press average, and it reflected the sharp rise.

U. S. government bonds were unchanged to lower.

Meeting Harmonious
Russell's stand against dollar aid to foreign nations won the backing of Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), a Foreign Relations Committee member.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), retiring chairman of the foreign relations group, said he does not favor "any careless spending" on Asian aid but would support outlays there that might be "viewed as a premium on insurance against war."

Rep. Richards (D-SC), incoming chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told a news conference Monday he believes that as far as possible aid to Asian countries ought to be in the form of loans and not grants.

In what House Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts described to reporters as "a very harmonious meeting," Eisenhower and his Cabinet members discussed in two sessions lasting a total of 6 1/2 hours Monday a broad field of possible legislative proposals.

Statehood for Hawaii

The White House said in a statement these included:

1. Extension of the Defense Production Act and authority for reorganization of executive agencies.

2. Expansion of the activities of the Small Business Administration.

Tasty Norway Kippers Pep Up Familiar Dishes

Kippers those lightly smoked fillets of herring caught in the Norwegian fjords—give a new magic flavor accent to some of our familiar American dishes.

We had them last week at a party, used in open-faced sandwiches. Our hostess, a woman noted for her entertaining, gave us her family recipe.

Kipped Open Sandwiches (Yield: 2 to 4 servings)

One (3 1/4-ounce) can Norway kippers, 4 slices bread, 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese, 2 teaspoons finely grated onion, 1 canned pimiento, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Toast the bread on one side only. Mix the cheese with the grated onion and spread on untoasted side of bread. Arrange pieces of kippers over cheese. Cut pimiento into strips and arrange crosswise over kippers. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Broil until topping is hot. Serve at once.

These kippers, by the way, are very inexpensive and come in aluminum cans that are unusually easy to open.

With eggs on the list of December plentiful foods, and kippers so cheap, here's a budget breakfast surprise:

Kippers and Shirred Eggs

One (3 1/4-ounce) can Norway kippers, 2 eggs, 1/2-ounce butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon bread crumbs, salt, pepper to taste.

Butter a ramekin lightly and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Empty the contents of one can of kippers and place in ramekin. Over the kippers, break two eggs. Bake in 350-degree F oven for 30 minutes or cook on top of stove over a low fire. Garnish with parsley and serve in ramekin.

Here are two more ways to use them:

world situation by Secretary of State Dulles.

Today's White House conference was the second with congressional leaders in as many days on the administration's 1955 legislative program Monday's day-long session dealt mainly with domestic issues and did not include Democrats, who will control the 84th Congress convening next month.

Dulles left the White House about 45 minutes after the start of today's meeting and told newsmen he had briefed the leaders on "that portion of foreign affairs involving congressional action."

Extra Controls On Farm Crops All Discarded

lotments for all these crops and corn.

Still in effect next year is a congressional edict that farmers must comply with all acreage allotments to be eligible for subsidies paid under soil conservation programs.

But in a step to discourage "excessive" use of land diverted from allotment crops, Benson reduced price support rates for next year's output of oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums. These grains—used mainly for livestock feed—will be supported at 70 per cent of parity compared with 85 per cent this year.

Relief For Dairyman

Benson said the reduction in price supports for these feed grains—coupled with removal of his "cross-compliance" acreage allotment program—should result in lower feed grain prices and use of these crops instead of their movement into storage under a price support program that has left the government holding seven billion dollars in farm surpluses.

Furthermore, he said, the reduced supports should provide some relief to dairymen who have been complaining that feed grains have been supported at a higher rate than have dairy products. The support level for dairy products is 75 per cent of parity.

The secretary said it appears that the 1955 support rate for corn may be 87 to 88 per cent of parity compared with 90 per cent this year. But he said corn prices themselves may average considerably below this level because many farmers are expected to overplant corn allotments and thus become ineligible for corn supports.

Benson said his decision to abandon various controls was prompted by a number of developments, including this year's severe drought, an expanded foreign farm export program, congressional enactment of a flexible farm price support law, and prospects that livestock feed requirements next

There was a murderer at large, and the destructive work of those four records would go on—if I let it. Hannah sat wordless and still, her head and shoulder bowed.

"I asked you this a few days ago," Helm said. He was looking at the hole in the wall, the hole that some day I'd get around to patching up again. "If a bullet had struck there, what size would it have been?"

There was no longer any need to keep up the pretense. "Probably smaller than a .38 caliber." "From Larkin's .32 automatic?" "I can't be sure, but I guess so."

"Uh-huh. A gun fight in this room, each firing one shot." "Then why didn't the killer claim self-defense instead of trying to frame me?"

"It's not self-defense to kill a district attorney who pulls his gun in the line of duty." "I said testily: 'Did it occur to you that a .38 caliber revolver is generally a police gun?'"

"Uh-huh. That's why the killer couldn't get rid of it after he shot Larkin. And a blackmailer didn't tap Willie Shad's wire. There's no percentage in it. Shad's dangerous, and revealing publicly that he's a crook is no news to anybody."

I looked down at Hannah sitting limp and apathetic on the unmade bed, defeated and crushed. I picked up the briefcase and walked over to her and said: "Here, it's yours."

She looked up, not at the extended briefcase but into my face, and there seemed to be a shimmering gray mist in her eyes. "Thanks, Paul," she said quietly, "but I don't want it."

"It'll save your fathers' present job and maybe let him become a Senator."

"I no longer care," she said. "It wasn't worth anything that happened."

I stepped back from the bed. Helm, sucking his pipe, watched me thoughtfully.

"What would you do with it?" I asked him.

He smiled gently. "At the moment it's your problem."

I replaced the briefcase on the table and sat down on the bed beside Hannah. Her wistfully lovely face turned to me. Her hand slipped into mine.

I didn't want payment, but I didn't take my hand away.

"What now?" I said.

Helm was looking out of the window over our heads. "I'm waiting."

"Not for the police," I said with weary sarcasm.

"You're not so far off at that."

In the stillness we heard the car. It swung to the side of the house and stopped. For an instant Helm's hand bringing the pipe to his mouth paused; then he clamped it between his teeth and struck a match.

There was no knock. The door flew open.

"I've been expecting you," Helm said.

Russ Handy stepped into the room. Slowly his head turned in an arc, his wide-spaced eyes impassively passing Ben Helm on his left, passing Hannah and me sitting on the bed, then after a long-drawn moment finding the briefcase on the table. Without a change of expression on his unyielding face, he closed the door.

"Like I figured, you were sitting on it all along, Flag," he said. "This is going to burn you."

Hannah's hand tightened in mine. "It's clear he couldn't have shot Dina Larkin," she protested. "No?" Handy started toward the briefcase.

Casualty Helm slipped between him and the table. "You've got it wrong, Handy. Mrs. Larkin hid it before either her husband or the killer arrived. The man who lives upstairs found it in the furnace."

"So?" Handy's head dipped an inch and rose an inch in an automaton's nod. "Cope!" he sneered. "Looked everywhere but where it was."

"You and they both," Helm said. "I understand you were with them when they searched."

The two men stood facing each other, no more than 20 inches between them. Handy's small-featured face like a mask. Helm sucking his pipe. And Handy said: "Get out of my way."

"For what?"

Handy took a sideways step to move around Helm, and Helm shifted in the same direction, remaining between Handy and the briefcase. It was like a children's game, but it was no game.

"You're just a shamus," Handy said.

"And you?"

"I work for the D.A. That briefcase goes to his office." Helm shook his head. "I'll take care of it."

"So?" Handy stepped backward, away from the table, away from Helm. "You'll take care of it for the guys you work for. Maybe for the killer. That's what you're paid for. Well, I work for the county. It goes with me."

"No," Helm said placidly.

Handy's right hand slipped under his jacket, to his left armpit. I uttered some sort of sound, a warning or maybe only a growl. All Helm did was take another pull at his pipe, and then Handy had his gun out.

Hannah's nails dug into my palm.

I didn't glance at her so close beside me. I stared at the revolver in Handy's hand and told myself that Helm was an idiot. I doubted if he carried a gun, and if he did it was too late for him to go for it.

"Step aside," Handy said. "All the way to the bookcase."

Helm obeyed. He took out matches and put a light to his pipe. He seemed somewhat bored by what was going on.

They Pay As They Serve

... Your Tax-Paying Partners!

THOSE trucks and trailers that haul the food you eat, the clothes you wear, the things you use — they pay as they serve you, yes, pay handsomely in taxes that go a long way to build and maintain the roads you travel and enjoy.

Think of it — trucks, though they make up only 16.7% of all motor vehicle registrations, currently pay 33% of all special highway taxes.

Trucks pay a large share of the cost of all Michigan's roads — county and state roads — even though they use principally the main highways.

Yes, you as a motorist would pay a lot more than you're paying now for the roads you have in Michigan if it weren't for trucks and trailers. They pay as they serve, in big, fat figures that will amaze you.

As compared to the approximately $45 a year the average passenger car owner pays in registration fees and gasoline taxes, one 5-axle tractor-trailer pays nearly $2,000 a year!

Who says trucks don't pay their way?

TRUCKS ARE YOUR FRIENDS—SERVING YOU NIGHT AND DAY!

Miss Isaacs Of South Bend Bride Of Trooper Wellman

Miss Mary Ann Isaacs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Isaacs, South Bend, Ind., and Darrell Wellman of St. Ignace, were united in marriage Saturday, Dec. 11 at 9 a. m. The Rev. Joseph McAllister, C.S.C., performed the double ring ceremony in the rectory of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in South Bend.

Miss Rose Ieraci, South Bend, was the bride's only attendant, and Eugene Devine attended the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wellman of Escanaba.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of beau de soie and carried a cascade of white carnations. The gown was fashioned with a fitted strapless bodice, made with a deep neckline, edged with a ruffled collar and three-quarter length sleeves. A short bolero jacket topped the waltz length skirt, fashioned with an apron effect in back and a butterfly bustle. Her shoulder length veil of net was held by a net cap.

Miss Ieraci wore a full length dress of fantasy green antique silk with a bouffant skirt. A matching bolero and mitts were worn with the strapless bodice. Her headpiece of double velvet held a brief nose veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

A wedding breakfast for the bride and groom and immediate families was held in the Sunny Italy Cafe after the service. The couple will be at home in St. Ignace.

Mrs. Wellman was graduated from Central High School, and her husband graduated from Escanaba High School. Wellman is a Michigan state police trooper formerly of the Niles post, who was transferred to the St. Ignace post Nov. 19.

Their son and members of his family came to Escanaba this past weekend and a family reunion and anniversary dinner were held at the Sullivan home, 1121 N. 16th St. No special observance of the golden wedding day is planned because of the condition of Mrs. Olson who has just returned from Rochester, Minn., where she was a hospital patient the past six weeks.

Mr. Olson was superintendent of construction of highways and bridges for the Delta Contracting Co. and the late C. G. Bridges until his retirement.

"The History of Christmas Carols" was the topic of an enlightening and entertaining program given by members of Lewis Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at their meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Soren Johnson in Gladstone. In addition to the general history of carols, both familiar and unusual, the effect of locale was stressed. Particularly interesting was the story of the Italian carol, "Parthenia" which became a part of Handel's "Messiah."

Idea Of Christmas Story Found In Old Testament

Newsfeatures

The coming of Christ is the theme of Christmas observance. But Christian doctrine places the beginning of Christ's story thousands of years before the birth in the manger at Bethlehem.

Christmas observance centers on the manger scene wherever Christians assemble. The events of the days immediately preceding and following the birth also have an important place. The journey from Galilee, the lodging in the stable because the inn was full, the visit of the wise men and the flight to Egypt are among the usual episodes which are recalled at Christmas.

Base Sought

The Rev. Marvin P. Halverson, executive director of the Department of Worship and the Arts of the National Council of Churches which has a membership of 30 denominations, has long worked with the traditional Christmas pictures and thoroughly approves of them.

But this year he asked himself, "Isn't there a broader base from which to view the Christmas story?"

In answering his own question he turned to the many references to the coming of Christ which are found in the Old Testament. "How have the artists represented these references?" he asked.

The answer is found in a series of seven pictures which are appearing in the Daily Press starting tomorrow.

The Pictures

Here is what Halverson says about the project:

"Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and his name shall be called Emmanuel (which is, God with us)." So in a dream spoke the angel to Joseph, the betrothed of the Virgin Mary (Mt. 1:23). It was a recalling of the prophecy of Isaiah (7:14), which Christians have interpreted as referring to the birth of Christ. The Christian feels that the Old Testament can best be understood in the light of the revelation in Christ, and he views the great crucial figures and prophecies in the Old Testament as having their true meaning in the way they show forth the Christ who is to come. Thus Adam, Abraham, Isaac, Moses, David, Solomon and other great Old Testament personalities gain additional significance because they partially embodied that which Christ fulfilled. Adam is the first-born of the human race, just as Christ is the first-born of redeemed humanity.

"Others of them are leaders of the 'old' Israel, just as Christ is the head of the 'new' Israel. Likewise the figures spoken of in Hebrew prophecy (such as the Lamb, the Suffering Servant, the Messiah, the Redeemer, Emmanuel the Word) are regarded as predicting the Christ and fulfilled by Him. These are often called 'prefigures' of Christ, since they foreshadow His coming. Seven of these prefigures, both personal

Council Studies Sewage Problem; Action Deferred

Legal, financial and engineering aspects of the Manistique water pollution problem, resulting from emptying raw sewage in the Manistique River and Lake Michigan, were discussed at a meeting of the Manistique City Council Monday night.

William Hood, city attorney, advised the Council that he had been informed by Florence Clement Booth, assistant state attorney general, that the motion for decree, if such is needed, may not be filed by the state in time for the January term of circuit court here. The state official stated that a hearing on a similar problem in Munising is to be scheduled for the same time.

Further studies and conferences with the city attorney are planned by the Council before an answer is filed on the state's suit, it was indicated at the Council session.

Discussion Monday night was led by Mayor A. W. Heitman, who pointed out that the city may save money by constructing storm sewers, to reduce water volume in presently over-taxed sewer lines. This would lower the capacity needed for a sewage plant, and also would provide greater capacity in existing sewers, he explained.

Enhance Property Values
The sewage disposal problem in Manistique is complicated by stone on the eastside, and lines laid in the west portion of the city below the water table, Heitman said. Blasting of rock, and pumping and sheathing for water on the west side, increase cost of rehabilitating sewer lines here, the mayor explained.

Near Capacity Audience Hears 'Messiah' Sunday

The annual Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by the Manistique Choral club here Sunday night was well received by an attentive, near capacity audience in the high school auditorium.

Additional choruses were rehearsed by the club which this year is larger. It rendered the great oratorio, with four guest soloists and attendance was reported the highest since the club was organized in 1946.

Soprano sections were sung by Mrs. A. A. Gossan, of Escanaba, and contralto solos by Mrs. Cory Hartbarger, also of Escanaba. Bass solos were sung by Roland Schwartzgobel of Marquette and tenor solos by J. Earl Cousineau of Manistique.

The 82-voice chorus was directed by Mrs. James H. Fyvie, who also was accompanist for the soloists. The chorus was accompanied by Mrs. John Orr.

The successful presentation was followed by a coffee hour for club members, their husbands and wives and friends, in the school. Mrs. Leon Nicholson was chairman, and was assisted by Mrs. A. L. LaVigne, Mrs. Nellie Raredon, Mrs. Willard Bolitho and Mrs. Alvin Nelson.

Amphibious Warfare Is Described For Rotary

If any nation is fortified for amphibious warfare it is the United States Col. John W. Kelly told Manistique Rotarians at their meeting Monday noon.

Kelly, a reserve officer, emphasized that he felt the waste in human and material resources in warfare is tremendous and that he hoped other methods of reaching agreement among nations are successful.

The Army officer stated he felt Russian invasion of the United States or Formosa in amphibious operations was unlikely, and added that if Russia takes aggressive steps, it would probably be invasion of Central Europe.

Amphibious warfare, he explained, means movement of a large body of troops over water to a hostile shore which is defended. Examples in history include the Spanish Armada's attack on England, which was unsuccessful due to failure to make allowance for weather conditions; the British invasion of Gallipoli in World War I, when supplies were not available in time; the invasions of Dieppe, largely by Canadian soldiers and of North Africa and Normandy in World War II.

A vast amount of detail is necessary in planning amphibious operations, Col. Kelly noted, as well as a large amount of military material to accompany troops. An invasion is an intricate maneuver, which above all requires aid and naval superiority, he emphasized. Kelly observed that Hitler did not have naval superiority over England and in World War II and did not attempt to invade the British Isles.

The fire power of American ships was praised by Col. Kelly, who explained that a destroyer has the fire power of a battalion and that a battleship is equivalent to the fire power of 11 artillery battalions.

New developments in equipment for amphibious operations were briefly outlined by the speaker, who also observed that establishment of communication is the most important necessity once an invasion is begun.

Changes in warfare include increasing use of helicopters, when air superiority is held, and use of atomic weapons, discourages which massing of large numbers of troops Col. Kelly noted.

Sorry to report we got our Baragas mixed up early this week . . . We stated yesterday that Holy Name would be playing Baraga in a home stand Saturday night . . . The Crusaders will actually be playing Bishop Baraga of Marquette that evening . . . Bishop Baraga lost its last start to Gwinn, 81-55, Friday night.

Independent basketball, one of the sports that has lost its high spot in fans esteem in recent years, has never actually died in Escanaba . . . A city cage league has been operating each year and the independents always come up with some fair teams . . . It will reorganize this season, but no action will be taken until after the Christmas and New Years holidays.

Junior High School cage coaches Chet Kleemann and Ollie Koski are wondering if history will repeat itself this year . . . Last season the three Junior High basketball teams defeated three Menominee junior teams in a series of games here but when they travelled to Menominee the Maroons won all three games . . . Last Saturday the Eskymos won their three games again and they will return the games at Menominee next month.

Talk about free throws . . . Gwinn really capitalized on the new "bonus" rule the other night in its game with Bishop Baraga of Marquette . . . The Model Townners clicked for 43 points from the foul line, missing 12, and won 81-55 . . . Bishop Baraga hit 25 of 41 attempts, so there were 96 gift shots in the game.

Holy Name center John Berrigan is consistent to say the least . . . In his four starts to date he has counted 26 points against Escanaba, 26 against Marinette Lourdes, 28 against Gladstone and 25 against Manistique . . . That's 106 for a fine 25-plus average.

A trio of Escanaba Eskymos is setting the scoring pace at this early date in the season . . . With four games under their belts, the Eskymos are led in the scoring department by Mike Heminger with 50, Tom Hoxan with 47 and Bill Bolm with 46 . . . After their home stand against Ishpeming Friday night, the Eskymos will take a Yuletide vacation and then return to work with two more road trips to Gladstone and Stephenson . . . They won't be back on the Junior High court until Jan. 14 against Menominee.

Stephenson High School, next foe for Holy Name, has six players who go six-feet or better . . . Dick LeRoy is the tallest at 6-4 . . . But the Eagles also have a couple of shorties in Bob Visuri and Harlan Gruenstern, both of whom measure 5-5.

Holy Name To Be Site For District, Regional Meets

The new Holy Name High School gymnasium, with a seating capacity of over 2,000, will be the site of district and regional basketball tournaments early in March.

Announcement of district and regional tournament sites was made by Charles E. Forsythe, state director of athletics, here yesterday afternoon after a meeting with the Upper Peninsula high school athletic council.

B District Here

Holy Name will entertain the Class B district tournament on March 2-3-4-5 and the Class D and E regional tournaments on March 10-11-12.

The Class B regional (championship) tournament will be held at Michigan Tech's college gym in Houghton and the C regional will be at the Negaunee Memorial gym.

Assignment of schools to the district sites was also made at the meeting but will be announced later by Forsythe through tournament managers. It is expected that Holy Name, Escanaba, Menominee and Stephenson will be assigned to the Class B district at Holy Name. Gladstone, which formerly made up the fourth B team in this district, is a Class C school this year.

Neutral Floors

In announcing the tourney sites, Forsythe pointed out that the committee made the selections on the basis of the best facilities available for holding the huge tourneys. The selections will also make all floors neutral as no home teams are in the same class as their tournaments.

Rock will be the site again this year of the D-E district tournament.

Assignment of officials to the tournament sites will be made at a meeting Feb. 7 in Iron Mountain.

The complete tournament assignment follows:

DISTRICT

Soo—B, C, D and E
Rock—D and E
Holy Name—B
Negaunee—B and D
Alpha—E
Crystal Falls—C
Ironwood—B, C and E
Houghton—C and D

Michigan Boxer Defeats Perez

NEW YORK (AP)—Featherweight Rudy Garcia and lightweight Kenny Lane headed home today, their modest winning strings intact.

Garcia, sixth ranking 126-pound contender from Los Angeles, stopped Washington's Gene Smith in 11 seconds of the sixth round at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night.

Lane, a southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., gained a split 10-round decision over New York's Danny Jo Perez at the St. Nicholas Arena. Both bouts were telecast over networks.

It was the fourth straight triumph for Garcia, who battered Smith, once a leading contender, all over the ring. Referee Harry Ebbetts halted the one-sided fray. Garcia now has a 21-6 record. He weighed 128½, Smith 130.

Lane befuddled Perez with his southpaw stance in posting his sixth consecutive victory and his 24th against three defeats. It was Perez' third loss, snapping a three-fight win streak. He has won 16. The New Yorker had a three pound weight edge, 139½ to 136½ for Lane.

Referee Ray Miller (5-4-1) and judge Artie Schwartz (6-3-1) voted for Lane. Judge Jerry Carnegie cast his ballot for Perez, 5-4-1. The AP card had it even, five rounds for each.

Purdue's Air Attack Topped Major Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Sophomore Leonard Dawson of Purdue and senior Paul Larson of California wrought such great changes in their teams' attacking pattern that these traditional land powers emerged as the top two major college passing teams in the country this year.

Final NCAA Service Bureau statistics today showed Purdue nosed out California for first place in yards per game, 177.3 to the Bears' 172.4, while California set an all-time record for accuracy and led in total yardage and number of completions.

California completed 139 of the 228 forwards it threw for its 61 per cent record.

Garcia, Wynn Lead Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians set two American League club pitching records while capturing most of the individual honorees during the regular 1954 campaign.

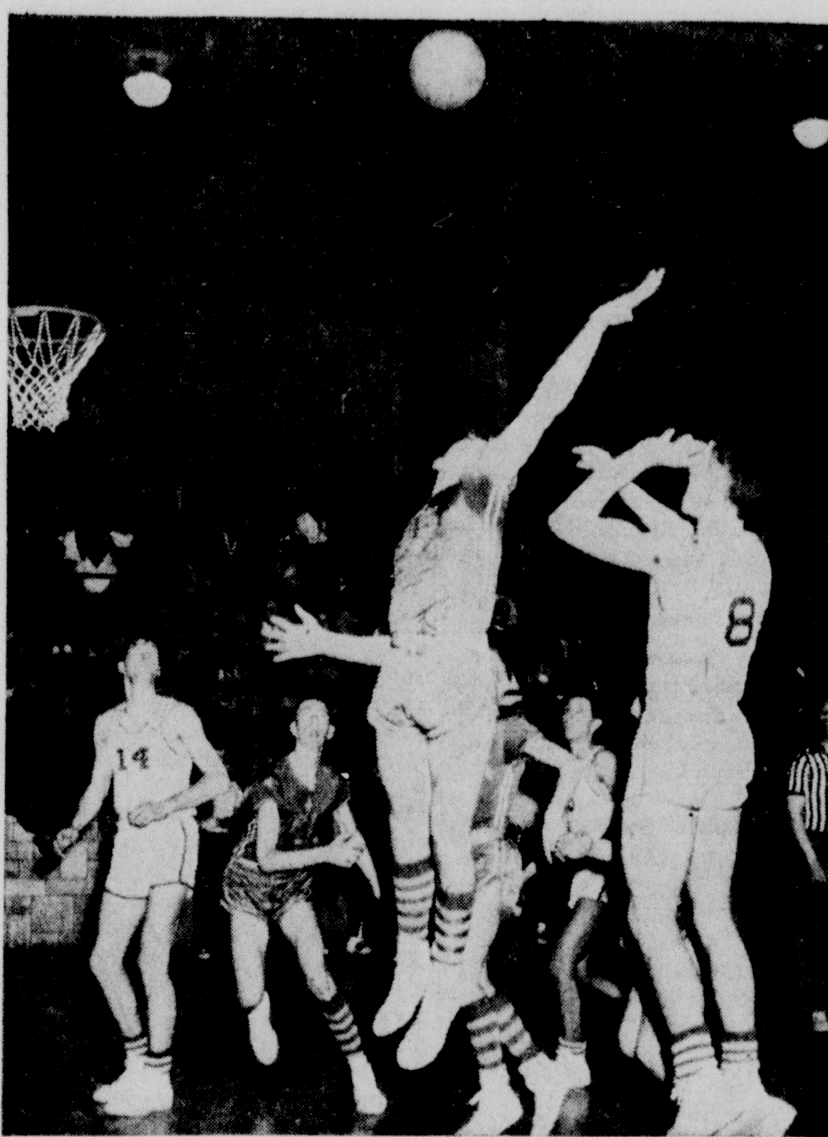

Official statistics released today by the league office showed that Mike Garcia was the circuit's earned run leader with a mark of 2.64. He permitted 76 earned runs in 259 innings.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press and released last Sept. 28 also listed Garcia as the earned run leader with 2.64.

Early Wynn, Garcia's teammate, topped the league's hurlers in most innings pitched, 271, most games started, 26, and with Bob Lemon, another Indians' mound stalwart, produced the most victories. Each had 23.

Bullet Bob Turley whom the New York Yankees obtained from Baltimore last month, was the strikeout leader with 185. He also walked the most batsmen, 181.

Cleveland's new standards resulted from its collective earned run figure of 2.78 and its total of fewest runs allowed, 504, three under the old mark established by the Yankee pitchers in 1942.

Tommy Collins Quits Ring For Third Time

BOSTON (AP)—Featherweight boxer Tommy Collins, who amazed a national television audience in April 1953, by getting up from 10 knockdowns at the hands of lightweight champ Jimmy Carter, has retired from the ring for the third time in four years.

Collins, a knockout loser to Brooklyn's Lulu Perez last Saturday night, announced his retirement Monday night saying: "I've had enough. I'll never go back."

The 25-year-old Collins, who lives in nearby Medford with his wife and two small children, first quit the ring in 1950 due to a back injury.

He defeated Willie Pep, Fabela Chavez, Glen Flanagan and Lauro Salas the following year before running into Carter's meat-grinder in a lightweight title bout.

Joe Savoldi, star fullback on the 1929 Notre Dame football team and one-time pro-wrestler, is a South Bend, Ind., insurance salesman.

Hapes' Suspension Is Lifted By Bell

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, has lifted a seven-year suspension which Merle Hapes received in 1947 for failure to report an attempted bribe.

Hapes, now an assistant coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian League, was cleared by Bell of accepting any bribe. Hapes played halfback for the New York Giants prior to his suspension.

The former University of Mississippi footballer asked Bell last week to reinstate him. After a hearing, Bell ruled Monday that Hapes can negotiate with any NFL club "in any capacity."

Canadian Soo Fighters Will Compete Here In Golden Gloves Tourney

The Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves championship boxing tournament will again feature Canadian Soo fighters trained by the veteran Tupper Toombs.

The U. P. tournament, sponsored by the Escanaba Lions Club and the Daily Press, will be held at Holy Name High School's new gymnasium on two Monday nights, separated by a week. The preliminaries will be fought on Jan. 31 and the finals on Feb. 7.

Toombs, who has been training Canadian amateur boxers for nearly a half a century, made his appearance at last year's U. P. tourney for the first time in several years. The Canadian boxers had been declared ineligible to fight in United States amateur competition for a time, but were reinstated.

Two Champions

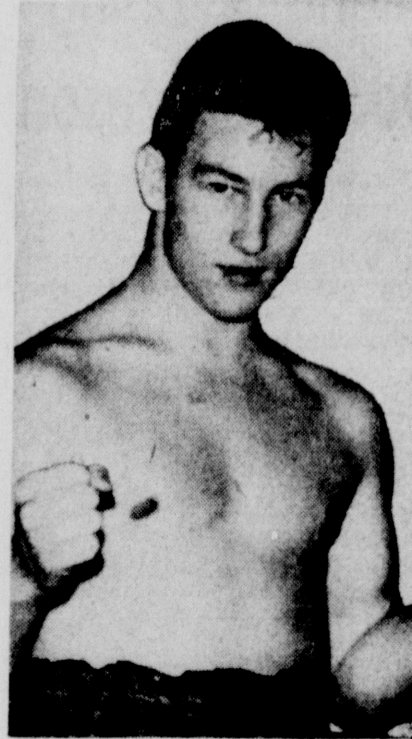

The Canadians put two open division champions through the tournament here. Earl (Kid) St. Louis scored a knockout over Francis Selling of Manistique to win the lightweight title. He suffered a knockout at the hands of Norman Johnson of Milwaukee in the Milwaukee Journal tournament. Dick Nolan won the light heavyweight title by default here and won once in Milwaukee before losing on a decision in the championships.

St. Louis, one of the most potent punchers ever seen in U. P. tournament action, has since turned professional and has been winning steadily in Canadian mitt circles.

Tournament officials here expect one of the largest fields in recent years. Other team entries will represent American Soo, Marquette, National Mine, Manistique, Iron Mountain, Menominee-Marquette and Escanaba. Individual entries are also expected from a number of other towns in the Upper Peninsula.

Escanaba Workouts

Escanaba workouts are held three times a week at Club 314

EARL ST. LOUIS

under the direction of Ray Crandall. The workouts are held Monday and Wednesday evenings from 5 to 7 and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8.

Among the boxers working out are veterans Dean Kalishek, Gerald Richer, Vic Sopina, Jim Brown and Al Swanson, all of whom have seen action in Escanaba rings in the past. George Hurley, Holy Name High School student, has also joined the squad.

Any new boxers who are interested in training with the squad are invited to attend the workouts. There is still plenty of time to get into shape and newcomers will have an opportunity to attend drills for several weeks before the squad is set, the Escanaba boxing coach pointed out.

"We'd like more boxers on the team which will represent Escanaba and now is a good time to begin training for the Gloves," he added.

Missouri Adds Badgers To List Of Big Ten Victims

CHICAGO (AP)—Missouri's Tigers continued to scourge Big Ten basketball teams Monday night by defeating Wisconsin and Indiana's unpredictable Hoosiers went tumbling before Southern Methodist.

Missouri belted Wisconsin, 62-56, for its third straight victory over Big Ten foes. The Tigers last week defeated both Indiana and Iowa. Only Illinois from the Big Ten has been able to beat Missouri this season.

Indiana bounded back from its defeat by Missouri to upset Notre Dame at South Bend before bowing to the Mustangs at Bloomington, 83-78, Monday night.

Despite a 41-point outburst by center Don Schlundt, the Hoosiers never could muster a lead although they tied the count three times in the first half.

Free Throws Win

Indiana outscored SMU from the field but the Mustangs clicked on 31 free throws to 20 for the Hoosiers.

Missouri's defense concentrated on Wisconsin's Dick Cable and held the high-scoring forward to 12 points. In three previous games Cable had dumped in 84 points.

Wisconsin held a 33-32 halftime lead but the Tigers went ahead to stay early in the second half. Iowa had little trouble getting back in the victory column Monday night. The Hawkeyes outclassed St. Mary's of California, 68-49. Coach Bucky O'Connor used 19 players with 15 getting into the scoring column.

Irish Win Third

Bob Logan, Iowa's leading scorer, was high scorer with 9 points.

In games outside the conference, Notre Dame defeated Loyola of Chicago, 89-76, and Bradley edged Oklahoma City, 63-62.

It was Notre Dame's third victory against one loss, Irish center Lloyd Aubrey led the scoring with 25 points and teammate Jack Stephens contributed 20.

All Big Ten teams are idle tonight but three games are scheduled for Wednesday. Notre Dame is at Purdue, Marquette at Michigan and Miami of Ohio is at Illinois.

Record Breaker

Louisville, 12th rated in the nation, scored its sixth straight success by downing Toledo 81-67, and undefeated Seton Hall extended its winning streak to five games with a 95-67 conquest over Providence Monday night. Art Quimby broke three records with a 49-point performance and his team set another mark as Connecticut routed Boston College 117-74.

Two free throws in the last six seconds by Harry Scaling gave Texas Tech a 49-48 decision over the Oklahoma Aggies.

Brandeis recorded its 17th victory in a row with a 103-88 romp over Wheaton.

This Cage Team Does Odd Things

MACOMB, Ill. (AP)—Western Illinois is just another small college in a small town. And while some schools like to do things in a big way, Western likes to do them in an odd way.

Only Monday, the Associated Press voted a football incident at Western this season as the sports oddity of the year.

That's when freshman Jerry Thinnies, sitting in the stands with his girl and munching a hot dog, was hunted up to take over quarterbacking duties in a football game with Eastern Illinois.

Monday night, Western played a basketball game with St. Ambrose. The score was tied at the end of regulation play, 53-53. The two teams played one overtime, then another, still another. In fact, they played six overtimes before Western won, 58-57.

Six overtimes is something that rarely happens. But that only tied a record held by several schools. The oddity is that neither team scored in the first, third, fourth or fifth extra periods. Each team scored three points in the second making the score, 56-56.

With 9 seconds left in the sixth overtime, it looked as if the game would go into a record seventh overtime. But Tim Wolf drew a foul and sank the ball giving St. Ambrose a 57-56 lead.

Western took the ball out and called time. This gave Western the ball at midcourt. The pass went to Chuck Schramm. Schramm whirled on the spot and let fly, a 45-foot goal to give undefeated Western its third victory.

Chicago Attorney Is Offered Baseball Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The presidency of the Pacific Coast Baseball League has been offered to Chicago attorney Leslie O'Connor but there is some doubt whether he will accept.

O'Connor, aide to the late Keneas Mountain Landis during his term as baseball commissioner, is attorney for the PCL.

Clarence L. Rowland resigned as president recently to become executive vice president of the Chicago Cubs.

Stoneham Predicts Giants Will Repeat

NEW YORK (AP)—Horace Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, calmly predicted today that his club would win the National League pennant again.

He couldn't see the Brooklyn Dodgers as a major threat. Stoneham made his observations before enplaning for a five-week vacation at his Scottsdale, Ariz., home.

"I look for the strongest opposition to come from Milwaukee," he said.

49er Coach Is Fired From Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Disgruntled owners of the San Francisco 49ers pro football team, Monday fired Coach Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw.

Shaw had a 39-year record of 71 victories, nine defeats and four ties with the local pros. Club president Tony Morabito said candidly Shaw was dismissed because the 49ers failed to win the National Football League championship this year.

The 49ers finished third in the NFL western division with a 7-4-1 record this season. They were plagued by injuries to players, among them Hurryin' Hugh McElhenry who was the league's leading ground gainer when he got hurt.

Shaw's comment was: "It is never pleasant to work under a situation such as has existed for the past few weeks, and I feel better now that it's over."

The 37-year-old former Notre Dame tackle has coached at North Carolina State, University of Nevada, Santa Clara and California before his tenure with the 49ers.

Check Officials For Title Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Handlers of middleweight challenger Pierre Langlois of France said today they are still worried about home town officiating in the title fight with champion Carl (Bobo) Olson Wednesday night.

George Kanter, the Frenchman's representative in America, said he hopes the California Athletic Commission will name at least one official—a judge or the referee—from the Los Angeles area to work the nationally televised scrap.

Kanter recalled the time that another French fighter, Robert Villmain, boxed Olson here in July 1952.

"One of the officials, Frankie Carter, scored the fight by a point for Villmain," Kanter said.

Langlois, 29, took a brisk final workout Monday. Looking on from ringside was the last man who tried unsuccessfully to lift the title from Olson, Rocky Castellani of Cleveland.

Castellani thinks the 15-round engagement will be close, with Olson the winner.

He describes Langlois, whom he outpointed in one fight and lost to, in another last year, as rough, "cute" in close and usually busy.

"But Olson hits harder. He's a real good fighter," Castellani said.
